

Hello Bradley,

I'm Judy Hill and I will be the long-term substitute for music until the end of the school year. I'm a Denver native, where my budding love of music was established and encouraged in Denver Public Schools. Building on that foundation, I taught music for decades in several Denver elementary schools wanting to inspire new generations of children with that same enthusiasm. More than a decade ago, I was fortunate to teach at Columbine where Steve Wera was the principal. When he called me and asked if there was any chance I would come out of retirement to work with him again, I readily agreed. I have been storytelling in the ECE classes at Bradley for the past 2 years, so in addition to knowing Mr. Wera and his strong leadership, I know what a fine school Bradley is.

I look forward to beginning on November 1. I plan on preparing 3 programs. The first with the 2nd and 3rd graders in February, followed quickly with the kinders and 1st graders in March, and the last program being presented by the 4th and 5th graders in early May. All classes will be learning new songs, playing new rhythm instruments and appreciating the joys of music.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Yours in Song,

Judy Hill
