

READ, MAKE and EXPLORE! The Denver Public Library's Summer of Adventure program encourages youth from birth to 12th grade to grow, learn and have fun.

During the summer months, while not in school, students who lack access to learning opportunities lose anywhere between 1-3 months of reading and math skills. This phenomenon is called summer learning loss or summer slide.

The Summer of Adventure program provides youth with opportunities for informal learning and activities to help youth retain academic and social skills throughout the summer months. And best of all, it's FREE!

HOW TO REGISTER Beginning May 31, stop by your neighborhood library and register for the Summer of Adventure program. Pick up an adventure guide to record your activities and work your way to a finishing prize. Time spent at the library counts towards your goal, so be sure to check out your neighborhood library's free summer events, activities and programs.

Youth will receive a registration prize and completion prize. Families will be eligible for weekly drawings for passes to cultural institutions and entertainment centers at all branch locations.
